Consequences Stories

Do...

Once upon a time... Write a few lines of a story on a piece of paper, fold it over, leaving only the last few words visible... and pass it to the next person who has to follow on with their own lines, etc... until everyone has had a go.

Think...

How did the story or stories turn out? Did you find it easy imagine what happened next? What strange twists and turns occurred?

Share...

Read your stories aloud to each other. Could one of them be developed further?
